

ABSTRACT

A chip resistor includes a resistive element (1), an insulation layer (4) formed in a back surface of the flat surface, 5 and two electrodes (3) spaced from each other via the insulation layer. Each electrode (3) makes contact with the insulation layer (4). Each electrode (3) has a lower surface formed with a solder layer (39).